Las Vegas, Nevada, May 5, 2015— EWS, Inc. and Environmental Water Systems is pleased to announce that the EWS Spectrum has been selected to provide whole home water filtration to The New American Home 2016.

Available to tour during the International Builder Show in January, The New American Home is built to showcase the latest technology, new products and lifestyle trends in the home building industry.

“With this platform, we have the opportunity to advance the discussion of health & wellness for the homeowner and the benefits to the home and the environment as a practical and cost effective solution that builders can offer to their clients” – Howard Esbin, CEO, EWS, Inc.

Handcrafted in California, USA-Made, EWS whole home water filtration systems use the most advanced, reliable technology to remove and reduce thousands of chemicals found in American tap water. Once installed, EWS systems provide clean, healthy, delicious water to your entire home, along with zero maintenance and zero filter replacements for nearly a decade. EWS systems even clean themselves!

EWS’ full range of product from sink filtration to whole home appliances are available in over 600 Kitchen & Bath Showrooms and Building & Plumbing Supply throughout the USA.

My years as a builder have allowed me to see my fair share of product, and for me there is no better water filtration product, information and support. My EWS system has been a benefit to both my family and my home – Nat Hodgson, CEO, Southern Nevada Home Builders Association.
